Highway Group To Meet State Board Oct. 16

The Randall County delegation before the State Highway Commission will have a hearing on the underpass project on Tuesday morning, October 16 at 9 o'clock.

Judge Burney Slack received notice Monday that the local delegates will be heard No. 2 on the docket. The delegation will be composed of representatives from the County, the City of Canyon and the Canyon Chamber of Commerce. The delegation will ask that the State proceed with widening Highway 87 for the underpass under the Santa Fe.

As the matter now stands, paving the four lane of the highway was completed several years ago north of the underpass. The city is completing the city improvement project of a four lane highway through Canyon, but the underpass remains as a bottle neck connecting the two lane strips of highway with a two lane viaduct.

While in Austin the delegation will request that the State erect and maintain additional stop lights on the newly widened highway in order that traffic may be regulated through Canyon.

Second Polio Victim Remains In Dallas Hospital

Polio has struck its second blow in less than three months in the Canyon area. Fourteen year old Norris Samuelson is the second victim. He was taken to Parkland Hospital in Dallas Monday, Sept. 24, to be checked.

The earlier polio victim was Mrs. Cecil Massey. In the case of Mrs. Massey, the disease has been arrested. Although the advance of the disease has been halted, Mrs. Massey takes occasional trips to Plainview for treatments and check-ups.

The case of Norris Samuelson is somewhat more serious. His left leg was completely paralyzed and his right leg partially paralyzed. By the following Wednesday night, after he was admitted, Norris still had some fever and suffered from headaches. A trace of fever still clung by the end of the week but treatments could be started in spite of the fever.

Norris will convalesce in the crippled childrens' home in Dallas. The period of time required to provide sufficient advancement for him to return home is not known at this time. The encouraging event is the fact that his fever has abated to the point where treatments for cure can be started.

C of C Planning Expanded Work Program in Future

Among the discussions before the Chamber of Commerce Thursday night at the City Hall was the support of the barbecue at West Texas State College, the Future Teacher's Association and the question of bringing industries to Canyon.

Because of varied activities that make it impossible to see clearly what the needs may be in the near future, discussion for the barbecue was put off until the call meeting this month. A move was quickly made, received a second and carried, to install a coke, coffee and do-nut booth at the Future Teacher's Association party to be held soon.

The discussion of bringing industries to Canyon hit several thorny branches. First, there was the inadequate housing in this area. Canyon's limited water supply was also brought up as being a major threat to large industries.

At present there's a hat factory and two meat packing companies wanting a plant somewhere in West Texas. To woo and win these plants in specific communities is local Chamber of Commerce work. At the meeting there was some question about what to do or what action should be taken until word is received from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. When something definite is received on the work clinic that was held recently, the Chamber of Commerce will have a specific idea as to what the people of this area want.

At last week's meeting the work clinic had not resulted in a letter from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The help of this organization will be a guide for the Canyon Chamber of Commerce to work by.

Paving in Palo Duro Accepted Hiway Officials

Completion of the eight mile extension of State Highway 217, the Goodnight Trail Memorial Highway, in Palo Duro State Park is scheduled the first week in October. The road gives to sightseers one of the most beautiful drives in the Southwest. A scenic bus schedule over the entire route is maintained twice daily from Amarillo and Canyon by the National-Panhandle Trailways.

Floods beginning May 14 washed out a portion of the road and did extensive damage to it and to the contractor's equipment. The road at that time was scheduled for completion in thirty days. As a result of the flood the road was rerouted and Crossings Six and Seven of the Prairie Dog Town Fork of Red River, the stream which flows through the Canyon, were eliminated. The new route goes through a more colorful part of the Canyon and provides an entirely different view.

The Five Crossings left in the road plans are designed to carry a maximum of flood water without damage to the road. Motorists will still have to beware of flash floods down the steep stream, but the concrete base and the wide spread given the stream flow will greatly lessen this occasional inconvenience. Principal beach areas are at Crossings One, Three, Four, and Five, and the entire stream area from Crossing Five to the lower edge of the park.

In addition to the new pavement the park has dirt roads covering some twenty miles of driving.

Top speed limits of twenty miles per hour have been ordered for the park road with a speed of ten miles per hour over some stretches of the route. The park is open the year round. Entrance gates open at 6 a. m. and close at 8 p. m. during the fall and winter seasons. The park is in Randall and Armstrong Counties.

Doris Bourn Given Randall County 4-H Gold Star

Doris Bourn of Loyalty 4-H Club has been chosen 1951 Gold Star Girl for Randall County. She had some rather close competition from Billy Bryan of Fairview 4-H Club and Margaret Friemel of Umbarger 4-H Club.

Mesdames Otto White, S. L. Terry, and R. V. Dawdy were the judges. They visited all of these girls in their homes last week in arriving at a choice.

Doris is going into her sixth year as a 4-H club member. She is a charter member of her club and has held almost all offices in the club. She has done outstanding work in clothing, home improvement and food preparation.

She had a surprisingly large display of garments which she had made as a club member.

She is a very valuable helper in the affairs of the family, planning and cooking meals, helping with the chickens and the garden, and helping train and look after her younger brother and sister. She is an all-round good citizen taking active part in church work and school organizations.

City Hall Gets Some New Paint And a Repair Job

Under the guidance of Dudley Bayne, the City Hall is getting a new face-lifting and paint job. Although not completed yet, the building is already taking on the atmosphere of new and greater dignity. The white stripe about the top of the building shimmers with a rejuvinated type of majestic splendor.

Inside the building has been brightened up with new paint and waist high ridge wood paneling. The job is not complete yet but should be finished by the end of the week. After the ridgewood is all up it will be given a coat of varnish to make it blend more perfectly with the other woodwork and fixtures.

The job started a couple of weeks ago when it was decided to put new woodwork about the front door. When the old woodwork was removed it was learned that the masonry was in a bad state of deterioration, so new masonry was installed. The remodeling job gives the City Hall a new look of dignified proudness.

Extra Weather Hits Panhandle During the Week

Panhandle folks have seen some very extreme kinds of weather during the past week.

The temperature ranged to 96 degrees above zero last Wednesday, which was the hottest September 26th on record, to 50 degrees on Saturday night.

In between the temperature are ranged from hot to cool.

No moisture has fallen this week, and none is predicted over the coming five day period of time.

Ambulances Out On Two Emergency Calls Monday Night

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kiser were in Neblett Hospital Tuesday morning suffering serious injuries from a car wreck that happened about 11:00 o'clock Monday night. The wreck occurred about one-half mile south of Ralph Switch, on Highway 87.

Oscar Kiser, who was unconscious when the ambulance got there, suffered from severe cuts about the back of his head. There was also a long gash on the left side of his face and a similar gash on the right side.

Sybil Kiser, wife of Oscar Kiser, was still unconscious Tuesday morning. Her condition was also reported as serious. She was also suffering from many cuts and lacerations.

The wreck occurred when the '42 model Ford struck a soft shoulder of the highway. Formerly the Kisers lived in the Pavilion Trailer Court in Amarillo. He had been working for the Stewart Brothers Dry Wall Company. He was on his way to Lubbock to seek employment in that city.

The car was reported as being demolished and Mr. and Mrs. Kiser in critical condition. Although riding with them was Mr. Kiser's half brother and the 7-year-old daughter of the Kiser's, these two were unhurt.

Earlier Monday evening a call that was almost a false alarm sent two Griggs-Warren ambulances rushing a short distance north of town. Upon arrival, the drivers found the reported overturned jeep to be a combine that had fallen off a truck. No one was hurt and the only damage was broken parts of the combine that had been crushed in the fall.

Water District Formed With a Small Vote

Amid an excessive amount of confusion, 11 of the 21 counties involved, voted in favor of the creating of a water control district, and supported the 5 cent tax to pay for the expenses of administration.

Among the counties which favored the issue was Randall county, with a very light vote. Most of the larger counties turned down the proposal. The official returns will not be made available until the election returns are canvassed on Thursday, states Tom McFarland of Hereford who is a member of the board of directors. Only a part of Randall county was included in the territory to be covered by water control.

It is stated by McFarland that those counties which voted in favor of the district are now automatically in the district. A second election will be held in January for the purpose of trying to induce other counties to join the district.

It is further provided, states McFarland, that counties which are dissatisfied with the new district may hold elections in the future and vote themselves out of the new district.

Whether the tax on land in the new district will be sufficient to pay operating costs, with the largre counties out, is a question not yet determined.

Local C of C Gets West Texas State C of C Report

The Chamber of Commerce recently received the report by the West Texas State Chamber of Commerce which contained the clinic observations drawn from the September 20 meeting. More than 100 people visited the courtroom where the clinic was held September 20. Approximately 37 of these were Chamber of Commerce members. During the sessions a total of 192 suggestions were made.

A 9 point program was outlined by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Number 1 on this outline was research and survey. Number 2 was civic improvement and the issue of foremost importance under this was a park. Plans for a city park will probably be drawn up very soon. The third point of the outline was agricultural, a point which means further exploitation and development of agricultural products in the community. The fourth point was industry. Under this section of the outline it was suggested that suitable industries should be attracted to the community.

The kind of publicity given a community is also important. The fifth point in the outline was that of publicity, which meant to keep the work of the Chamber of Commerce before the public at all times. The publicity given the Chamber of Commerce also tends to flavor the publicity received by the community. The sixth point of the outline was trade and development. The seventh was highways and the suggestion was made to get the underpass north of town widened as soon as possible. The eighth point was education and the ninth was organizational activities.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce even went so far as to predict a great deal of success due to Chamber of Commerce work in this community.

Help Keep Canyon Clean!

Desire For Park Voiced by Many Local People

If Lincoln were writing this story he would probably start by saying, 'Three score and 2 years ago our forefathers incorporated this town. During all these 62 years there has been no adequate public park constructed for public amusement and recreation.' The fact is that more and more people are becoming more and more insistant upon a park.

Recently when the work clinic was held by the Chamber of Commerce, a large majority of people put their desire for a park in writing. The Chamber of Commerce will be using every means possible to encourage the building of a civic park in the very near future. Although there are many problems to be worked out before the park can be a reality, the quicker the plans are started, the quicker the work will be completed.

There's an old Chinese adage that says, 'the journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step.' So if the park is to be completed it must first be started. Dreams, talk and plans are a good way to begin to create an interest and those steps have been taken. Now it's time for some action.

As a benefit to the public a park is invaluable. It provides a spot for enjoying a cool picnic lunch during hot summer weather. The park also provides a place for public recreational affairs. It might even be said that a modern town without a park is like a sail boat without a sail.

Public Cautioned About Parking at Crowded Places

City Secretary Dudley Bayne and the police department caution folks against parking so as to block alleys and streets where there is a gathering of a large crowd. One of the most dangerous places to block such an entrance or exit is at a theater during a movie. It's an accepted fact that a theater fire is one of the most dangerous fires possible. The panic of the crowd is largely responsible for this. When this panic stricken crowd finds that the pathway leading from the burning building is blocked, the inevitable results are a number of useless injuries and perhaps some useless deaths.

When reading of a fire where a number of people were trapped, folks usually pass it off with, 'oh, that couldn't happen here.' The victims of such fires probably thought the very same thing. The fact that such a thing has never happened in Canyon is no reason that it never will. Observe the safety rules and be prepared if such a disaster does happen.

The places where huge crowds gather, where care should be used not to block alleys and streets, are churches, movies, at the school house or college when there's a public function and at various club meetings. The police department has no desire to start giving tickets to those who are careless about parking at such things, but if the practice persists, a few tickets will, of necessity, be given.

OF FREEDOM

It is no quirk of fate that the newspaper is a free institution here in the United States and just another puppet in dictatorial states. The newspaper remains free in our country because it has proven itself indispensable in the eternal struggle to keep our people free. Faithful in its task of presenting important news in an unbiased, unprejudiced way, the American newspaper keeps its readers well informed, helping them to make decisions on vital matters, continuing the tradition of keeping ours a democracy based on an educated citizenry. Wherever the newspaper is free, so are the people.

Another Dollar Day Is Slated For Friday

Canyon's second Dollar Day in the town's latest attempt to revive Dollar Day values, will be held this coming Friday. The merchant promoting these greater values hope to promote more than just Dollar Day values. They're trying, through better values, to find the path of closer relation between customer and dealer. In view of this fact, Canyon's Dollar Days will have several names. You may see these values referred to as Canyon Day or as Trade Day values.

These days of monthly values which fall on the first Friday of each month will be a display of the season's latest fashions and the special offer of greater values. This is the combination which the merchants believe the public wants and also the combination the public deserves.

Last month almost every Canyon merchant who participated in giving Trades Day, or Dollar Day values, reported an increase in business. The increase ran the scale from slight to substantial but as a starter in the latest attempt at such values, it was considered very encouraging.

So if you want real honest-to-goodness values minus the old hurry - hurry - hurry, tell you what I'm goin' to do, flavor, be sure to pay a visit to Canyon's business establishments Friday.

Building Below August Level But Still Very High

Building permits issued in Canyon for the month of September total $88,000.00. During the month of August the total building permits went to $92,300.00 or $4,300.00 more than September. This was caused by the $88,000.00 Taylor-Evans elevator which was issued a permit during the month of August.

The building was more varied during the month of September. There were permits for 7 houses that totaled $49,500.00. Permits were issued for two filling stations and their total was $16,000.00. A permit was issued for one miscellaneous building and the estimated cost of that was $2,500.00. Three permits for additions and repairs were issued with a total estimated cost ranging to $18,500.00. Total alterations on non - residential buildings amounted to $11,500.00.

If you should figure the increase in building in percent, you would find some very staggering figures. For instance, the July permits totaled $44,500.00. The month of August climbed above that figure for an increase of more than 100%. Then if we should take the number and kind of buildings that received permits during September we would find another 100% increase in such constructions as homes. These figures prove that there is prosperity and progress in this community.

Palo Duro Park Attendance Grows To Exceed 94,000

Attendance at Palo Duro State Park, the World's Most Colorful Canyon, passed 94,000 for the year this week. Park officials declare that record breaking summer attendance has regained 20,000 attendance lost during last winter and spring against weather and flood handicaps.

Indications are that the attendance of 110,050 registered at the park in 1950 will be topped by a substantial figure. Completion of the paved road into the Canyon plus other factors should bring the attendance close to 125,000 for 1951, park officials believe.

All facilities at the park remain open throughout the Winter and the Autumn colors in the Canyon in October, November, and December are especially attractive to color camera enthusiasts. An added attraction soon will be the annual migration of the Western bluebirds into the park. Thousands of these bluebirds spent the Winter in Palo Duro Canyon. The brownish red berries on the cedars are a special delicacy for the bluebirds during the winter months.

C. M. Dowlen Is Recovering From Last Week's Crash

Although there's a 'no visitors' sign on the door of C. M. Dowlen at the Neblett Hospital, he is reported to be recovering satisfactorily from last week's crash. The crash occurred early last Wednesday morning as Mr. Dowlen was on his way to his farm east of town. Driving into the early morning sun obscured Dowlen's vision and he failed to see the tractor that had been left in the road.

At the time of his entrance into the hospital Mr. Dowlen was considered in serious condition. He was suffering from chest injuries and shock. Although no hint was made as to when he would be able to go home, he was reported to be doing fine by Tuesday morning.

Breakfast guests at Dr. and Mrs. Harper's Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bynum and Laura SoRelle.

This Is 12th Annual Newspaper Week — No Special Section

This is the 12th Annual Newspaper Week!

The Canyon News observes the 12th Annual Newspaper Week.

The physical observance of this event is almost negligable in this issue of The News. We regret this fact, but wish to call your attention to some facts over which we have no control.

For the past 11 years The Canyon News has been among the very few weekly newspapers to devote a considerable amount of space to the subject of Newspaper Week. During the years we have published regularly eight or twelve page sections of our paper. Even during World War II, we always managed to get enough paper and help to put out a special edition.

Here is the situation this year: As every reader knows, we are on a strict ration of news print. Our jobbers say that we must not use any paper unless it is entirely essential. To cap the climax, we received a few days ago a carload of print paper. In the door of the car was scrambled 14,000 sheets of valuable print paper. And we mean SCRAMBLED! It was so badly torn up that none of it could be used. we have a claim pending for the loss, but that claim will not replace the paper.

Then on top of this situation, one of our printers is absent this week, with work piled up in the printing department.

All in all, we simply could not handle a special section for Newspaper Week, as greatly as we wished to do so.

Last year the publisher was called upon to talk in Tulia and Hereford on Newspaper Week. We have Canyon this year, and a call from Clarendon on which we were obliged to beg for a rain check.

We are in a mess, and don't kid yourself about the kind of a mess we are in.

What About Record of Truman and Those Connected With Him?

President Truman still continues to defend the acts of his associates in high places.

The President makes it clear that he considers his friends in public office above reproach. He does not say that they are all honest, but approves their actions, which the people generally disapprove.

If the time has come when the public will follow its leaders and approve dishonesty among our public officials, America is riding to a fall.

If there is no dishonesty among government employes, why all of these investigations, charges and insinuations? If those who file the charges are wrong, there are plenty of grounds for criminal libel suits on the part of those who are the victims of these charges. Have any such suits been filed? No indeed! Those against whom the charges are made consider that there are plenty of grounds for such charges, and are willing to let the matter ride.

If government employes are to accept commissions on the side from private firms which are seeking government grants or loans, there may be no federal law which points out directly that such is a crime, but let it be remembered that the American people are bitterly opposed to such actions and consider such action as wholly improper. Why arrest the Negro for shooting craps in the back alley when federal employes are protected by the absence of specified law, which designates this, that or the other act as being against the law?

But what could you expect of a graduate of the Kansas City machine bosses?

Three Shootings in One Week As Result of Too Much Booze

Three men were shot during the past week, two in Amarillo and one in Borger. The reason? Booze!

Some folks may have the nerve to defend the presence of booze as a necessity, but we have never fallen for such trash.

The victims of these shootings may have deserved to be shot. We will not argue this point; but what about the misery brought on by the fact that they were shot while the men who held the guns were under the influence of liquor?

Who's fault is it?

Is it the fault alone of the poor devils who drank the poison, or the folks who voted in favor of keeping the poison on sale—"For business reasons?"

Personally we have never had anything but the deepest sorrow for the man or woman who is under the influence of liquor. They are not alone responsible for their condition. They are the victims of a vicious business which places the American dollar over and above the welfare of human beings.

Will the world ever awake to the viciousness of the liquor business, and the misery that is caused by those who drink the stuff?

Aggressive State Official Makes Visit to News Office

Tuesday afternoon a young man bounded into The Canyon News office and before you could catch your breath had made the rounds of the staff, shaking hands and having a good word for each of them.

This was Attorney General Price Daniel in action.

"The General," as he is known in official circles, is a potential candidate for Governor in 1952. That is, he will make the race if Governor Shivers decides to run for the United States Senate.

Daniel is a forceful personality. He recalled his first visit to The News office during World War II when he was a GI at the Amarillo Field. Since he is owner of a weekly newspaper, he takes great interest in looking around newspaper plants and getting new ideas.

"The General" does not like the title, as it is connected too much with the military, and those who have served in the armed forces are not too well pleased with the military.

Mr. Daniel is devoting his time to fighting the tidelands case in the Supreme Court. He believes that Texas has a good chance to recover the oil which is being stolen from the school children of Texas by the federal government. In this case, Texas has superior rights above those of any other State. Daniel still believes that right will finally prevail among the wishes of men who would not object to seeing Texas robbed of her rights.

Suspicion leads many people into many mistakes.

Strong Boost From Hill Senator Tom Connally Gets

Our fellow townsman, Dr. J. A. Hill, writes an interesting column for the Amarillo Times. Dr. Hill is a great friend of Senator Tom Connally, and took exception to the attacks which have been made upon the Senator. Here is his article as printed in the Times.

I see in the papers that the wolves are after Sen. Tom Connally. I don't believe they'll get him. There is no one in the pack that is fleet enough of foot to get in good barking distance. Of course, I'm no pollster, prophet, or political paragon, but I just can't conceive of the people of Texas turning their hand against as faithful and able public servant as is our senior senator.

Very few men in the history of this nation have a more distinguished record than Tom Connally. There is scarcely a flaw in it. Consider this: An outstanding student leader in and graduate of two of Texas' greatest institutions of higher learning; a distinguished member of the Texas legislature in his early twenties; county attorney of Fall county before he was 30; member of congress 12 years; U. S. senator since 1929, where he served for years as chairman of the Foreign Relations committee; U. S. delegate to a whole string of international conferences on war and peace problems; vice-chairman U. S. delegation to United Nations Conference on International Organization, San Francisco, and one of the architects of the U. N. Charter; member U. S. delegation to first General Assembly of U. N.; adviser to secretary of state in several conferences of foreign ministers; and generally recognized over the nation as one of the most powerful spokesmen of this government in both foreign and domestic affairs.

In addition to this unimpeachable record as a public servant he has an equally unimpeachable personal record. From boyhood up Tom Connally's conduct and ideals have been a near model for his countrymen. No American has ever had to apologize for our senior senator. From all reports Washington is in sad need of men of the Connally type—men of moral and intellectual caliber. They are not found in every fence corner.

Now what are the liabilities which those who want his job are trying to hang on him? It is an unfortunate fact that politicians seem to think that it is desirable if not necessary to find a lot wrong with the man whose job they are after. That is the reason we see so much political mud-slinging. No matter what a man has done for his country, or is yet capable of doing, he must be smeared.

Well, the first thing is that he has lived too long—he is 74 years old. The candidate who makes that point ought to state his own age and tell when he thinks he would be too old, if elected, to succeed himself. If he knows at what age a man becomes incapacitated for the U. S. Senate he ought to tell us. People all over the nation and in every walk of life need information like that.

The truth is, this current idea about retirement at a fixed age and a government pension for all above 60 or 70 or any other age is down-right silly and surcharged with selfishness, greed, and corruption. It will be worked over some of these days if our democracy survives.

Tom Connally, bending under his three score and 14 years, knows more today about both domestic and foreign affairs than any opponent he may have can learn in 20 years. And Folks, in this particular niche of time, knowledge, like character, is at a premium. Our ignorance of the world's problems is one of our greatest handicaps.

Another charge is that Senator Connally is too close to the Truman administration. If those who make that complaint mean to imply that he is crooked or tainted they are either ill-informed or are inexcuseably careless with their words. Tom Connally is a Christian statesman who stands head and shoulders above the Washington average in either party or in any branch of the government.

If the implication in that charge is that Tom Connally and the Administration have made foreign policy mistakes, Tom Connally himself would probably admit it. But, believe me, Sir, there is another side to that picture. America is playing a new role in world affairs—new to her and new in the history of nations. Her responsibility is no less than that of maintaining world order in an age and in a civilization that have been rocked to their foundations by the impact of science and invention. Men and nations are being ruthlessly uprooted and torn from their traditional moorings. It is not a normal world in terms of history, or in terms of international policy. Its problems, its complications are a hundred fold greater than those of a few years ago, or of any other age. No man or set of men is capable of avoiding all pitfalls. That 48 of 51 nations sustained us recently at San Francisco is some evidence of success.

With these facts before us let us not listen too much to the self-seeking wolves who are out after one of the best men in our national service.

No Outside Rules Will Be Tolerated by State Democrats

The Democratic State Executive Committee will not go outside the law as passed by the last legislature to make up its own rules of procedure on the case of party loyalty.

Governor Shivers opposed such a method of the Democratic party attempting to regulate the voters "beyond the law."

This reminds us of the constitutional amendment which was adopted by the people of Texas in 1931 which set up a procedure for holding sessions of the legislature. By rules adopted by both houses in the very next session of the legislature, the entire method was upset, and the old procedure was followed.

Whether the sponsors of the proposed new regulations hoped to place the brass collar around the necks of all voters of Texas is not quite clear, but it seems that this was the purpose. If this was not the purpose, why propose changes outside the laws of the State?

We see little sense in passing a law upon any question and then killing the purpose of the law before it gets a chance to operate. Yet this is the scheme which keeps many politicians in office.

Governor Shivers is to be congratulated.

A broken toe is nature's way of emphasizing the importance of the foot.

Appointments for a "good time" are rarely broken.

NEW B-52's

The Air Force's first four B-52 intercontinental bombers will cost an average of $21,354,211 each — 35 times the cost of the first B-17's in 1940. The B-52's intricate bombsights alone will cost more than $250,000 each — about 100 times the price of the famed World War II-Norden bombsight. The cost of the first four giant bombers is explained by the fact that it includes the expense of special tooling. The "unit fly-away cost" would drop from $21,354,000 to $3,800,000 if as many as 100 were produced at a time.

Kansas and Missouri cities hit by flood "rebound" rapidly.

Emmitt D. Smith Appeals to the Students of West Texas State

Emmitt Smith, member of the Education Department, has appealed to students of West Texas State to assume their obligations as citizens of Canyon. His appeal is well founded and welcomed by the citizens of Canyon. The following statement appeared in the last issue of The Prairie:

Are you a member of the Canyon community? Students on the campus of West Texas State make up approximately 20 per cent of the whole population of Canyon. They are considered by Canyon to be members of the community. All of these students, before enrolling here, were active members of some other community.

Whether these students realized it or not, this community membership had a definite influence on the way they thought, felt, and acted. Most of them felt a deep satisfaction which had its roots in satisfactory community membership. They had neighbors who were concerned about their welfare. Most of them had a church home in which they experienced certain satisfaction. They knew and had confidence in the various community officials which they and their families helped elect.

In short, the community sort of belonged to you and you belonged to it. Perhaps this feeling of 'belongingness' was the source of the feeling of satisfaction which you had when you spoke of "my home town."

When you transferred your educational interests to WT, did you transfer your community membership? Do you know anything about this community? Do you know the mayor, the councilmen, any other community leaders? Are you interested in whether or not Canyon as a community lives or dies? Are you an active participant in one of the Canyon churches? Do you know any people in Canyon who are not directly associated with the college? Are you acquainted with any of the business men in Canyon? Do you bank here? Do you know about such community-wide efforts as the Canyon Community Recreation program?

Are you a member of the Canyon community. Or are you just a visitor here during school hours? Do you keep your car ready to speed you away right after the last class of the day or week in order that you might stay until time to return for your next class? If you do, the loss is suffered by the Canyon community because you are gone because Canyon considers you part of it. And you suffer too for lack of a community home where you go to school.

Someone has said, "There is no such thing as a non-participating member of a group." May we paraphrase this statement by saying, "There is no such thing as a non-participating member of a community." If you are not, will you consider becoming one of us while you are here. We would certainly enjoy having you!

Metal Is Needed To Coin Money of Small Denominations

When there is need for national defense, the people of America rally to the cause.

This time the need is metal for coinage purposes. Will the folks turn in their small coins, or will they continue hoarding them?

If all surplus coins which are not needed in everyday business transactions could be turned in to the treasury, there is no doubt but that there would be a sufficient amount of money on hand to last for a long, long time.

Turn in the coins, folks, Uncle Sam needs the metal, and it will cost you nothing—not a cent.

Texas Draft Director Clarifies Drafting Procedure for Freshmen

The freshman college student gets a break this fall if he receives an order to report for induction from his draft board, says Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director.

"If a man is in his first year of college and has never before been postponed or deferred to stay in school," General Wakefield said, "he automatically gets a deferment for a full academic year.

"Congress has given the first-year man a break," the state draft director continued. "He doesn't have to satisfy board members or meet any test or scholastic requirements. He only has to pursue a full-time course of instruction to the satisfaction of college authorities."

General Wakefield advised freshmen they "had better study hard this fall and next winter and spring," as they will likely have to satisfy minimum draft board standards for deferment in the second scholastic year.

"One of these standards is their first-year class standing," he pointed out. "So it would be a good idea for a freshman to start applying himself from the beginning.

"Apparently, Congress decided that every young man who goes to school would get the same chance the first college year," he continued. "After that he has to prove on the basis of his own merit that he is due further deferment to study."

Undergraduates beyond the first year, in order to be eligible for deferment under the student classification plan, must satisfy the draft board on at least three out of four points:

(1) Successfully have completed at least a year in college, (2) be accepted for admission to the class next commencing, (3) have a record of required scholastic standing in his last year of work, and (4) have made the required score on the Selective Service college test.

Under the plan, the student must satisfy the first two requirements and one of the third or fourth. A local board can also consider other information about a student.

"Boards may take under consideration any information outside the scholastic," General Wakefield said. "They are not bound to consider tests or class standings, but their decisions are subject to appeal by the student if he acts within 10 days."

The state draft director noted that Selective Service regulations are different in the case of graduate students and professional students of medicine and related fields. These are eligible for deferment if they currently meet requirements leading to graduation or degree.

General Wakefield emphasized that education deferments, like other deferments, are not exemptions from military service. He said a deferred student has an obligation to serve later.

"Under new amendments to the law," he said, "men deferred to go to school, for civilian jobs, as farmers, or because of dependents, will be obligated to serve until age 35."

The obligation stops at age 26 for all others.

EMPLOYMENT

Employment in the United States climbed to a new peak on July 14, with 62,526,000 persons in civilian jobs. This compares with the previous high, reached in August, 1950 — of 62,367,000. Unemployment declined from 1,980,000 in June to 1,856,000, the lowest for July since the end of World War II.

ATOMIC COSTS

The United States has spent $4,900,000,000 on atomic experiments so far and the Atomic Energy Commission has another $1,400,000,000 in appropriated, but unexpended funds. It has asked Congress for $1,200,000 more for the current fiscal year.

DRAFT TEST

Of the approximately 165,000 college students who took the first draft aptitude test, given May 26, about 62,700 flunked the examination. A total of 339,056 students took the test on May 26, June 15, June 30 or July 12, but results from the latter tests have not been tabulated.

On a trip of a few hours, I was compelled to listen to the news being hashed and re-hashed three times. On another journey, I was forced to hear a play-by-play account of a baseball game and two soap operas.

Some railroads serve free coffee. If you are not a coffee-drinker or if you feel you have already had all the coffee you want, you are not compelled to drink it. Why then should a man who buys a ticket for transportation be forced to take anything but transportation if that is all he wants?

If he is the only one on the car who wants silence—the only one who is not afraid to be left alone with his thoughts, he is entitled to that right. Let the passengers who want to hear hill-billies yelp wear head-phones.

I like the railroads—ride on the trains a lot.

Having dinner on the Santa Fe Chief a while back, I shared a table with a man who told me he was from Philadelphia. He pronounced his words quickly and spoke through his nose in a tone so unmelodious, he seemed to have adenoids. In reply to his questions, I said I was on my way to Chicago to make a speech and that it would be my first one in the North and I was nervous.

He asked, "What kind of a speech?"

"A humorous one."

"Then, you needn't worry," he said, "for, with that twang of yours, you're bound to go over!"

Wife of American Serviceman Writes Of Puerto Rico

What do the wives of American servicemen do for recreation when they're a great distance from home? Many of these ladies find exciting adventure in the type of pastime which presents itself. A letter received recently by Mrs. Bob Moore, Jr., from her sister, Mrs. L. O. Webster, the wife of a Naval petty officer stationed in Puerto Rico, reveals a certain amount of excitement in the recreation of the American wives.

Mrs. Webster writes that she and 15 other navy wives made a sight seeing tour around the governor's palace at San Juan, Puerto Rico. Mrs. Webster gives a vivid description of the palace in her own words it goes like this. "The palace was built in 1521, so is over 400 years old and surrounded by beautiful grounds which are considered a "must" for tourists - or were, anyway, until recently when it was closed because of the assassination attempt which was made on the governor, Louis Munoz, by the same group of fanatics who tried to shoot Truman. So now they are heavily guarded and no one is allowed in except those cleared by security police." She goes on to say that the navy wives got their permission and went to the governor's palace. The wife of the governor had intended to entertain them but was unexpectedly called out of town. An invitation was extended for the ladies to return and they did later to enjoy a luncheon and a long visit with the governor's wife.

In telling about the visit Mrs. Webster mentioned the lovely chandeliers of the palace. The marble floors, ornate mirrors, huge paintings and statues plus exquisite linen, crystal, china and silverware were also mentioned in a breath of excitement.

The American women were also amazed at the huge number of servants required to serve the luncheon. The delicious food and the friendly manner of the governor's wife seemed to have captivated the ladies completely.

Hurricane scares seem to be the main fright of the American ladies. The letter mentions a hurricane named "Charley," it seemed to have been the latest and most fearful scare. Other hurricanes of lesser importance and less frightful had been called "dog," "easy," and "fox." Neither of the last two had hit Puerto Rico but they were still raging in the Atlantic Ocean at the time the letter was written and there was a chance that they might hit Florida.

A. A. U. W. Sponsors Local Projects

The Canyon Branch of the A. A. U. W. will sponsor two projects this winter. The first will consist of a series of discussions on child growth which the A. A. U. W. and the P. T. A. will join in presenting and a sale of "United Nations Cookbooks" designed to raise funds for a scholarship to West Texas State College.

The social studies section of the organization will represent A. A. U. W. in organizing the child growth meetings. These will be held the five Friday mornings preceding Thanksgiving starting October 19 and will be led by Mrs. Mary Sligar, the child growth consultant connected with West Texas State. The general topic for the series will be 'Keeping up with the Jones—and what this means to our children," growth patterns, emotional upsets, punishment, and similar problems will be considered. These meetings will be open to the public without charge. Everyone interested is urged to attend.

For the past two years A. A. U. W. has furnished a scholarship to West Texas State for a Latin American student and desires to continue the practice. It seemed fitting to finance this project by the sale of the "United Nations Cookbooks" which are to be released this fall and the membership voted to organize the sale of such books in Canyon as soon as they are available.

The opening meeting of the A. A. U. W. was held at the home of Mrs. R. A. Neblett on Monday evening, October 1, at 7:30. Mr. Holmes Ambrose, tenor, from West Texas State College sang several solos, accompanied by Miss Matilda Gaume. This was followed by a short business meeting at which time plans for the coming year were discussed. Several new members and guests were present, including Mrs. Gort Rushmer, Mrs. Holmes Ambrose, Miss Katharine Holmes Ambrose, Miss Katharine Sensabaugh, Miss Elizabeth Jacobs, Mrs. Ray Schultz, Mrs. Jack Barnett, Miss Claudia Neelley, Mrs. Thomas Beard, Mrs. J. Norwegian Sailor Is Picked Up by Authorities Here

A man picked up by Deputy Sheriff J. L. Pounds Friday night was found to be more than simply a farm hand who had not returned the truck to his boss. After he had been picked up it was learned that the 21 year old Norwegian sailor had jumped ship in Philadelphia. According to the sheriff's department the man had several aliases but it finally was decided that his name was Kiel Olson.

For the past few days the Norwegian sailor had been working on the farm of Lee McMurtrey, a couple of miles west of here. He had been sent to town to have a flat tire fixed and after more than a day had elapsed and he hadn't returned to the farm, the sheriff's department was notified. J. L. Pounds, deputy under M. E. Cantrell, picked the man up. The deputy quickly suspected something wrong more than driving a car without the owner's consent.

The light complexioned Norwegian with a stubble of beard could produce no registration card. He carried other papers that had different names on them. Among them an honorable discharge from Fort Dix, New Jersey, bearing the name Ralph Cigliano.

For driving the car without the consent of the owner the sailor was assessed a fine of $25.00 and court cost. Monday morning the sailor was turned over to the imigration authorities in Lubbock.

The sailor was picked up within a few hours after the sheriff's department was notified last Friday.

It was President Truman's own idea to counterattack against developing indications of scandals in Government by proposing that all members of Congress and all public officials report annually on their private finances. Objective is to give the impression that all members of all parties need to be policed because of an uncertain standard of honesty.

Guy Gabrielson, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, is expected to give way to a successor long before the 1952 elections. Mr. Gabrielson, a follower of Senator Robert Taft, is under fire because he tried to get payments postponed on his company's Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan.

Word is being passed out from the top to de-emphasize talk about mystery weapons because of the chance that the public will demand that these weapons be used, when they aren't yet in existence, to get war over in Korea.

A victory for Winston Churchill in Britain, if it comes, is not to be good news to political strategists for the White House. The feeling is that if British voters show a desire for change, maybe the American voters will, too.

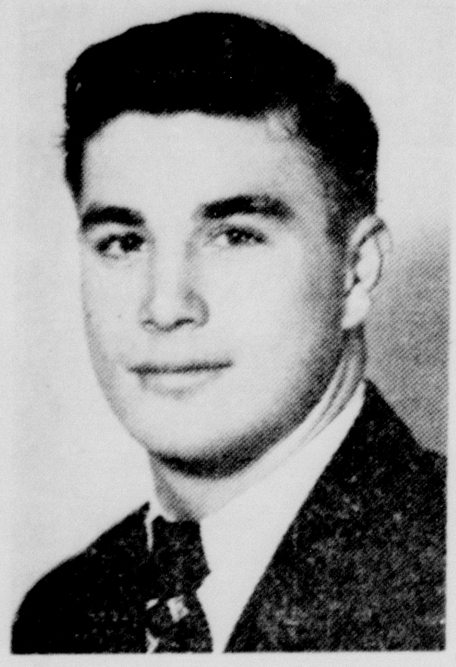
First West Texas State Man Is Killed in War in Korea

By STERLIN HOLMESLY
Prairie Sports Editor



JAMES THOMAS HAMILTON, killed in action on the Korean front, September 17, 1951. That message brought the ugly horrors of war very close to home for many persons here on the campus of West Texas State. Jimmy Hamilton was a freshman student at this college during the year 1949-1950 and had enrolled for the fall session of '50 before he volunteered his services, and life, for the U. S. Marine Corps. To most of the students on the campus he was known as a courageous member of the college boxing squad, a happy, personable young guy with a thirst for life.

I was very closely associated with Jim during his brief stay here. We lived in the same dormitory for nine months and I came to know something of his background; his hopes; his dreams. One looks back and remembers so many things about him; his driving ambition to succeed, his cheerful outlook on this drab world, his dynamic personality and the circle of friends he made wherever he went.

While I was yet a greenhorn sports reporter on this same paper Jim made his debut in the collegiate ring and I had the privilege of covering his bouts. He was a game, sport-loving fellow, taking victory or defeat, compliments or criticism, with a shrug and a smile. He was a fighter and entered the squared circle with ability to either give or take. Somehow, I know, he entered the deadly ring of combat and gave and took with confidence and belief that it was for the right ideal. Possibly for other young men to have the chance to continue their chosen paths in life.

It seems such a shame for an outstanding example of American youth to perish in some muddy ditch in a ravaged foreign land and in a seemingly pointless conflict. One cannot but feel frustrated that men such as James T. Hamilton continue to die while small talk is carried on over a conference table and balky delegated squabble over meaningless lines in a scarred terrain.

Jimmy Hamilton was the first West Texas student to be killed in the Korean conflict, but he will probably not be the last. When the struggle is over and done we at home must remember the great sacrifice of Jimmy Hamilton, and many, many others, and strive to hold the peace so that they may not have given their lives for nothing.

Words can never express the great vacancy left by him, the sorrow, the sympathy and the sadness. As one of Jim's friends, a boxer on the same team in '50, so aptly put it; "He was a great guy; there will never be another like him."

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS: Congress is looking forward to an adjournment within about two or three weeks. Frankly, I doubt the advisability of an adjournment this year, even though it would give an opportunity for the members to get back to their homes and visit with the people. Personally, I want that opportunity as much as anyone, but there is much legislation in the mill that needs early attention and I hope that it could be attended to before adjournment this year. There are several legislative matters now pending that would be most beneficial to the farmers and would not involve one cent of cost to the taxpayers. This legislation is important because the harvesting of many crops is now underway and if the legislation is not passed this year, its benefits will not be available until next fall. There are other legislative matters concerning small business that should be attended to as quickly as possible, and I would like to see these measures brought to the floor and debated before the first of the year. If they are pigeon-holed until after the first of the year, they could easily be lost in the great mass of legislation that comes before every Congress and must be disposed of during the early part of the session. Some of the pending bills are aimed at marked curtailment of bureaucratic and agency controls, and there is no better time than the present to pass these measures. Some of the matters concern the rights of veterans and should be acted upon with the greatest possible speed. However, it appears that adjournment is in the immediate future and it will be impossible to forestall it.

I certainly would not want to see this Congress adjourn without final action being taken on the Tidelands Bill. That fight has been long and hard, and I want to see the Senate pass this piece of legislation by the same majority percentage-wise as did the House. Such action by the Senate would almost insure passage over the President's veto in the final analysis.

TAXES: The talk about more taxes is completely out of the question as far as I am concerned. I have stated publicly, and I repeat, that the American taxpayer has reached the saturation point in taxation and there is only one way for taxes to go from now on — that is down. A great many of the members of the House with whom I have discussed the matter are in complete concurrence with me, and I do not believe that any measure for additional taxes would have even a remote chance in the House of Representatives. In fact, I doubt seriously that it would ever be forwarded out of committee. If additional funds are needed, which I doubt, they should come from savings in non-essential Government expenditures rather than from additional taxes.

CENTRALIZATION OF POWER: Much has been said about the centralization of power in Washington, and the people from our section generally are violently opposed to such centralization, as any staunch believer in the Democratic form of Government should be. There is a lot more to the problem than just being for or against centralization. I want to give you one example of how centralization can be brought about and the people will not realize it until it is upon them. Whether or not a particular field of endeavor, whether it be in agriculture, industry, or otherwise, comes within the confines of interstate commerce depends in many, many situations upon the decisions of the courts. The courts are to some degree influenced or bound by the decisions and findings of the Interstate Commerce Commission. If the particular field of endeavor in question is held to be within the definition of interstate commerce, then that particular field of endeavor is subject to the regulations and laws of the Federal Government. These regulations and laws would not be applicable to that particular field of endeavor or that business if it were engaged solely in interstate commerce, that is, commerce wholly within the state. The interstate status has been extended to farmers in the production of their crops, and has been extended to many small businesses that are suffering from such interpretation. This procedure can take one business at a time, or one field of endeavor at a time, and eventually have practically every business or activity in the United States earmarked as being in interstate commerce and therefore subject to regulations and laws administered out of Washington, D. C.

Dr. Jack Walker Resumes His Work as Announcer For West Texas State — Well Known in Radio Work

Doctor Jack Walker puts his newly earned knowledge to work in the control room of the campus radio studio. The equipment shown was gathered by the popular instructor during the last three years and sports lines to all Amarillo stations.

* * * * * * * * * *

Most students of West Texas State this year have at least heard the voice of the newest 'doctor' on the campus. He's the man, to many students, who called out the numbers on registration day. To others he has been a teacher, to some a fellow student. But to members of the faculty of the Department of Speech he is an asset of inestimable value.

But Jack Walker, or Dr. Walker as would now be proper, is just the sort of fellow to make himself an asset. He is the sort of fellow who does the job with little or no noise, but can make himself heard through the worthwhile projects into which he pours himself.

He just sort of likes to do things, and know that when he finishes the task it has been done right. Yet the only credit he really enjoys is that which he feels within himself, the satisfaction of knowing the job has been done the best possible way.

More evidence of his unpretentious ways is witnessed by the fact that he much prefers the simple 'mister' before his name over what seems to him the stodgy title of 'doctor.'

No matter how much Jack Walker would rather remain in the background, his work for the college to date will not let him. There are too many lasting contributions of his talent and labor to be seen here.

Jack (maybe he'll pardon the informality, but on him it seems more natural) is currently teaching radio courses on the campus. These courses, incidentally, were made possible by his own manual and technical skill. He is also teaching a course at the WT Amarillo Center.

Speech work attracted Jack as a result of his training during the war, when he was a radioman and gunner in the Air Corps. On his return to the campus shortly after the war, he took up the study of speech and it's been his favorite subject ever since. He was granted his Bachelor of Science degree at WT in 1946.

But after his first graduation here, the possibilities of a radio studio and facilities to broadcast direct from the campus began to come to light. He was kept on here and for the next year was a graduate assistant teacher in radio.

It was during that year he and his students began gathering pieces of equipment, installing them and training to use them. Since the studio was completed, little more than a year and a half ago, more than 250 programs have originated from the campus. There is now a direct line from the WT Speech Building to all four Amarillo radio stations.

To further his own knowledge of radio, his specialty field, and also to get a background knowledge of television, Jack attended the National Broadcasting Company Institute at Los Angeles. This institute, or school, specializes in teaching the fundamentals of both radio and television, and affords the students there a chance to work directly with the staff of NBC.

A leave of absence was granted to Jack in the fall of 1950, when he and his wife and son went to Denver, where he enrolled to begin his doctorate work at the University of Denver. He studied steadily through the long term of 1950-51 and the summer of 1951.

Jack's wife, formerly Jo Newlin, suffered with him through the writing of his doctorate dissertation, "Speech Factors Influencing College Teachers," and the comprehensive examinations. Mrs. Walker said they started adding up the hours spent working on the big thesis, "but we tabulated up to 300 hours, then lost count."

His work was rewarded, however, when at the end of the summer term this year he was granted his sheepskin, making him a Doctor of Philosophy in Speech and Radio Teaching.

When asked if he had plans for the future other than to teach here, Jack replied that he and his wife are very happy in Canyon. "We like it here or we wouldn't be here now," Jack said. Jack is a member of the Canyon Rotary Club, and Masonic Lodge. His favorite hobbies are hunting and fishing. Football far outpaces other sports as his choice.

He and Jo were married in 1941, while both were students here. She received her bachelor's degree in 1948. They have a son, Billy, 5 years old. Jack first entered West Texas in 1938, naming Samnorwood as his home town. Presently the Walkers live in Pueblo Courts.

Besides his current work of teaching radio and other speech courses here, Jack is busy arranging the schedule of programs to be heard over all the Amarillo stadiums later in the year.

W. A. Moore, dramatics professor, came near to summing up how West Texas feels about having Jack Walker as a permanent member of the faculty when he said, "We're certainly pleased to have him with us."

Coach Kimbrough Speaks at Lions Club Wednesday

"Football coaches are not supposed to know very much," stated Frank Kimbrough at the beginning of his talk at Lions Club Luncheon Wednesday.

In a speech that ranged from the Tidelands question to football coaching, the Buffalo mentor gave every indication of knowing more than he admitted in his opening.

Kimbrough quickly and accurately briefed the Tidelands Issue. He also mentioned a news story of a football player who was suing for back salary because of a spine injury suffered in a game. In another instance the coach told of a plan to rotate coaches in their respective classifications.

The Buffalo herdsman used these varied points to show a few of the disadvantages that sometimes face a coach. For instance, if money for education is choked off the federal government's grabbing of the rich tidelands, many state schools in Texas will find it difficult to maintain a high standard of education. Naturally this will mean a reduction in good football and other athletic material. Schools that can and do make attractive offers to outstanding athletes lure this good material away from schools with more ethics.

Coach Kimbrough closed his speech by extending his appreciation to the general public for the loyal support of his team. He invited questions and was asked about freshmen and sophomore players. The coach answered that there was some good material which would emerge as football players after 3 or 4 years.

The Lions welcomed two guests, Mr. Dowlen of Amarillo and Jimmy Latimer.

Tot Hospitalized After Tumbling From Speeding Car

Three year old Jim Bob Hollenstein was hospitalized Wednesday afternoon about 12:30 after falling from a moving car. Jim Bob was one of a group of children going to the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo. Somehow during the trip one of the back doors came open. The car was reported to have been traveling at a high rate of speed when the tot fell out.

After tumbling from the speeding automobile, Jim Bob was rushed to Neblett Hospital. He never lost consciousness for a single moment even though it was later learned that he was suffering from 2 skull fractures plus many bruises and lacerations.

Dr. Nester reported Jim Bob's condition as satisfactory. Even though there are two skull fractures the positions of these fractures are so located as to minimize their danger.

Jim Bob is the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hollenstein of Umbarger.

Brownwood, Texas

"I am continually running from one of our jobs to another, in all kinds of weather, over all kinds of roads," says D. C. Lemmons. "In my car, and in our trucks and cement mixer, I must have a motor oil that can stand up under dust, dirt and cement powder. That's why I was so interested in your story of 50,000 Miles—No Wear."

"Since changing to Conoco Super Motor Oil, I've driven my personal car more than 50,000 miles. That's why I know—50,000 Miles—No Wear has sure been true for me. Since I can't afford to take chances on ordinary oil, it's Conoco Super one hundred percent for me!"

Change Now—For Summertime Performance All Winter! Protect your engine from winter's rasping wear. Change to new Conoco Super Motor Oil, with Oil-Plating. Get quick starts, fast pickup, better performance all winter.

Proof of 50,000 Miles—No Wear! After a punishing 50,000 mile road test, with proper drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence: in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. Factory finishing marks were still visible on piston rings! Gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000!

More Action Taken on Getting Highway Underpass Widened

As time goes by more action is being taken on getting the underpass north of town widened. The Chamber of Commerce has written a letter to the highway department in Austin and Homer Garrison, Jr., of the highway department, has promised to a delegation from here at the earliest possible date.

In the letter which was received a few days ago states that Mr. Garrison will be a very busy man during the month of October. From all indications it appeared that the delegation would probably have to wait until November to see Mr. Garrison. That's the way his letter sounded but there's a possibility that an opportunity will pop up before then.

Vondell Starkey of Wheeler visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Afton Williams Sunday.

Connally Cantrell was here over the week-end to visit with his father, Sheriff M. E. Cantrell.

Mrs. R. W. Woolsey of Corpus Christi is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Grigsby.

SILLY MAN

The woman motorist was trying to navigate a traffic jam. She rammed the car in front of her, then tried to back and knocked down a pedestrian. Then she tried to move over to the curb and smacked into a hydrant. A policeman came up.

"Okay, lady, let's see your license," he demanded.

"Don't be silly," she grunted, "who'd give me a license?"

MUTUAL PROPOSITION

Young Jones seemed inordinately proud of his new car. One day his next door neighbor passed to compliment him upon its immaculate appearance. "Jones," the neighbor remarked, "you certainly keep your car clean."

The proud owner grinned sheepishly, and rejoined: "Heck, it's mutual — it keeps me clean, too."

CAUSE FOR WORRY

"Did you get home all right last night, sir?" asked the bus driver.

"Certainly, why do you ask?" said the passenger.

"Well, when you got up and gave your seat to the lady last midnight, you and I were the only two people on the bus."

Newspaper Week Is Observed in Talk Made at Rotary

Clyde W. Warwick, publisher of The Canyon News, explained to members of the Rotary Club Tuesday the reasons that this newspaper did not publish a special section on the 12th Annual Newspaper Week. This is the only newspaper in the Southwest which has always observed this event with a special section until this year. The News lost 4½ weeks supply of news print in a recent carload shipment when the paper was ruined in transit.

There is a growing tendency to throttle the press in America, observed the speaker. The recent order of the President in banning news from all departments until it had been cleared by departmental heads is a direct slap at a free press and a free people.

All members of The Canyon News staff were present and were introduced by Warwick as follows: Jack Haley and Charles Hillier, co-owners; Gladdis Samples, advertising; Jerry Woods, reporter; Lawrence Hunnicutt, reporter; Elmer Gene Mickey, pressman; Harry Dale Noble, printer; and Belle J. Latimer, saleslady.

Visitors were: Walter Daugherty of East El Paso; John McCarty, Leon W. Dupuy, Mowry Stidham, Hubert Dowell, Bill Griggs, Horace Griggs, Henry Buthker, Van H. Allm, E. Kancher, all of Amarillo; and Gene McGlasson of Canyon.

State Revival To Be Held by M. E. Church

Rev. Herschel L. Thurston said today that Rev. Troy Hickman had been assigned to assist the First Methodist Church in the forthcoming Texas United Evangelistic Mission which is getting underway throughout the State. Rev. Hickman is the pastor of First Methodist Church of Ozona.

Rev. Hickman is highly commended as a minister, especially fitted to minister in a college church community.

Local church committees are preparing lists of prospects for church membership. Trained visitors will call on the prospects in behalf of Christian commitments and membership in the church.

This statewide activity, which will be carried on simultaneously in each of the Methodist Churches in Texas, is under the general chairmanship of Bishop William C. Martin of the Dallas-Ft. Worth area, Bishop A. Frank Smith of the Houston area, and Bishop Robert N. Brooks of the New Orleans area.

Rev. Dawson Bryan of Houston and Rev. Leslie Ross of Nashville, Tenn., are executive co-chairmen of the Houston area; and Rev. Howard Ellis and Rev. Joe Edwards, both of Nashville, are co-chairmen of the Dallas-Ft. Worth area, and Rev. J. W. Golden of Memphis, of the New Orleans area, Central Jurisdiction.

Committees from the local Methodist church have been named to assist the Rev. Thurston in the various phases of the campaign. The following are chairmen of local church committees: H. L. Thurston of the Planning Committee; Mrs. K. E. Frieze of the Spiritual Preparation Committee; J. W. Shook of the Public Preparation Committee; A. C. Haley, Jr., of the Finance Committee; Dan F. Sanders of the Visitation Evangelism Committee; and Mrs. C. A. Murray of the Spiritual Life Committee.

The Week of October 5-14 will be used by the churches of the Houston area for nightly visitation evangelism and preaching services. Rev. Thurston will be preaching at Fredericksburg during this period. Rev. A. C. Greenwaldt is pastor at Fredericksburg First Methodist Church.

The Dallas-Ft. Worth area and the West Texas Conference will hold their activities October 26 to Nov. 4. Preaching services will be held each evening in Canyon First Methodist Church, beginning Sunday, October 28th, in which the Rev. Hickman will be the preacher.

Buffaloes Defeat Indians For First Victory of Season

'I can beat you with one hand tied behind my back,' is an old brag that everyone has heard. Figuratively that's what Coach Kimbrough's Buffaloes said to the McMurry Indians in Saturday night's game.

At the half the Buffs trailed the Indians by 6 points. Early in the third quarter the lead was lengthened to 13. After the first 3 minutes of the third quarter the Buffaloes dug cleats into the sod, clamped the holes, closed in the line, and for the remainder of the game did a neat scalping job on the McMurry Indians. The first nick in the Indian lead was made when John Poindexter blocked the kick of Buddy Fornes on the Indian 36 yard stripe. Jim Bob Harris recovered the ball for the Buffaloes on the Indian 29 yard line. On the first play Clark took the ball from Lane on a pitchoff and carried it within 1 yard of the goal line. Airhart took the ball next, crashed through center for the first Buffalo TD. John Poindexter booted the extra point which was to be the first of 4 successful conversions of the evening.

Buddy Fornes took the Buffalo kickoff and managed to get down to the 55 yard line. After 3 plays the Indians lost the ball to the Buffs when Marvin Smith recovered the fumble of Hendrickson. A couple of spectacular plays climaxed in a 37 yard pass from Lane to Ogden resulted in another Buff touchdown and another conversion by Poindexter. In less than 4 minutes time the Buffs had forged ahead of the Indians by 1 point.

The third Buffalo tally and extra point came by way of a long pass and a quarterback sneak. Then, with only 4 minutes left in the game, the Indians made a desperate effort to retain their scalp. Jowell threw a long pass to Brock who pulled it down on the 10 yard line and went over for the third Indian TD of the game. The conversion was made and the score stood 21 to 20, Buffaloes again leading by one point.

As the clock ticked away the precious minutes to make history of the game, the Indians tasted desperation in their attempts to surpass that one point lead of the Buffaloes. That desperation was their undoing because the pass by Jowell that was intended for Brock fell squarely into the hands of Patterson. Taking it from the West Texas 45 yard line, Patterson went all the way for the fourth Buffalo touchdown. Poindexter toed a true course and when the final whistle blew, the score was 28 for the Buffaloes and 20 for the Indians. Sam Hayes, a nationally famous sports predicter, had selected the Buffaloes over the Indians by a score of 27 to 20.

This week-end the Buffaloes fly over to Tucson for their game with Arizona University. The two teams will meet on equal terms as Arizona has lost 2 out of 3 games and so have the Buffaloes.

Food Poisoning Shows a Growing Need Refrigeration

"Recent outbreaks of food poisoning show very strikingly the need for special care in handling and refrigerating any food that must be prepared some time in advance of serving," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Prevention of food poisoning requires clean food handled as little as possible and consumed while it is fresh. Food prepared hours before serving, and allowed to stand at warm temperatures become good culture media for bacteria. Cooked products of a perishable nature are readily subject to decomposition, and must be kept well refrigerated.

"Most food poisoning is caused by infection by certain types of bacteria which grow rapidly under favorable conditions, such as high temperature and high humidity. The infection may come from dirty hands, utensils, flies, rodents, contaminated water, infected food materials and in some cases in certain types of bacteria, which are rapidly spread and not necessarily associated with filthy conditions.

"If food must be prepared much in advance of use, cook it thoroughly, keep it refrigerated and otherwise protected at a temperature under 50 degrees F. until you are ready to use it. Avoid serving foods that are readily infected, such as certain salads, and cream-filled pastries. Any foods that are not to be served immediately should be kept on ice. Milk, ice cream and dairy products in general should be from approved sources."

A studied and careful effort is to be made by White House political planners to convince the 2.5 million Federal Government workers that their future lies in keeping the Democratic Party in power. Millions of votes are seen in a careful cultivation of support from those in Government jobs.

The world seems to be in a predicament analogous to that of a near-sighted man who lost his glasses and can't see well enough to look for them until he finds them.

FASHION STYLE OF SATELLITE STELLA—A recent "People's Fashion Show," held in the "Culture Room" of a state-owned factory in the Russian sector of Berlin, offered husky models displaying the "activist combination," a new, utilitarian, all-purpose dress for the Communist and Red-impressed female worker. Since no American fashion stylist was allowed at the showing, the "dress" has here been recreated with the use of imagination and a number of facts pertaining to Russian production methods. The "dress" is actually a combination garment, sleeping bag and shroud.

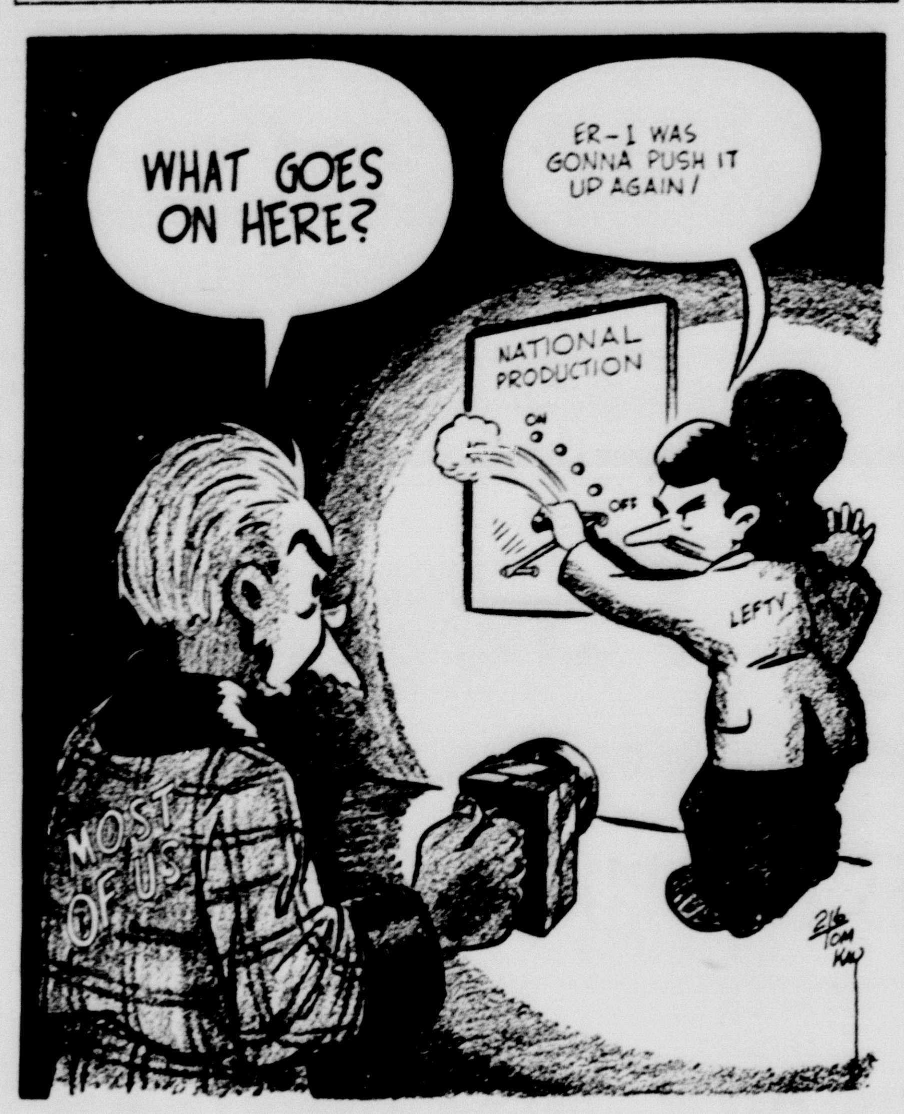
THE AMERICAN WAY



Caught In The Act

Just Between You, Me, and The Gatepost

Last week the back room of The Canyon News was humming again as programs for the West Texas State College Buffaloes and the McMurry Indians were worked up. There was more machinery in operation than there were men to operate it. Jerry also took her turn at a machine. The days slipped by and before we knew it Saturday was here and the Buffaloes were ready for the programs.

Well, that's the way the autumn season usually happens to pass. You just get so busy that you don't notice the passing of the days. You simply pull up another blanket at night and before long you're wearing your coat as you go downtown. Then in the last part of November you notice Christmas decorations and you think that every year some eager beaver starts preparing for Christmas a little earlier.

Give a little serious thought before you start complaining about how early Christmas arrives. Remember the story about the man who claimed that telephone booths were becoming smaller. He also complained about newspaper print becoming finer and the distance to the bus stop farther away. Finally someone enlightened the poor fellow and told him that nothing had changed. The complainer was merely getting older and had not realized it.

Digging into the corn department for a joke about age, we find an actress named Joan Crawford. As the story goes, Miss Crawford was complaining to a certain cameraman about his work. She claimed that he was not catching her in as beautiful a pose as he had in another picture they had worked together in several years before. After taking all the complaints he could stand the cameraman said, "look, Miss Crawford, don't blame me, this camera is ten years older than it was in the other picture where you were so beautiful.

Last week our weekly cold wave didn't bother to wait for the weekend to strike. Coming in Wednesday night, the cold wave built up a bit of reserve and greeted Thursday morning risers with a blast that had heretofore been reserved for Friday or Saturday morning.

Two of the busiest men in town during the past two or three weeks have been J. T. Harp and Pat Britain. They have been photographing the students at West Texas State College. The job is advanced to the point that the boys can now relax a bit, but it has been a strenuous task.

When nominations open for the nerviest salesman in this part of the country, you can look for Bob Bellah to be among the first nominated. If you don't think he deserves the title, take a look in the window of Bellah's Market and stop and think a moment. With the water supply of Canyon being as nearly perfect as possible, water that has been shipped in is offered for sale.

Here we go in that dream department again. With all the sparkle and glamour of the Tri-State Fair last week, some thought was given to the idea of starting a county fair in Canyon. It seems that years ago there was such a thing. It also seems as though it would be a nice thing to have now. At any rate it's something to dream about.

John King has returned from his emergency trip to Louisiana and reports another grandchild. After the child was born and mother and baby were both doing well, King went fishing. It was a thrilling bit of relaxation that netted him a 25 pound yellow catfish.

Another thing that's good dreaming material is what Canyon could do with a 250 watt independent radio station. By keeping the station independent of network soap operas, there would be enough time for the use of much local talent. A certain number of dramatic shows could be produced and aired. With all the talent that comes through Canyon via West Texas State College, a great deal of it gets out without being fully appreciated. A larger number of people could enjoy the vast amount of talent in this area and at the same time the attraction might be great enough to hold more talent in Canyon for a longer period of time. Whether it's practical or not, the idea of a small radio station makes for a swell dream.

Joke Department: A man who had long scraggily hair was approached by a fellow who asked, "where is the best barber shop in town?"

The amazed long hair (not in a musical sense) answered crabbily, "how should I know."

Youth Patrol For School Areas To Be Organized

The groundwork will be laid for the youth patrol in school areas at a special meeting Thursday night in the City Hall. Chief of Police, John King, has made arrangements for this meeting which will be instrumental in organizing the patrol. There will be some out-of-town people present as well as local people.

The Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club and the schools of this area will also be represented. The purpose of the patrol is to enforce safe driving regulations in the school zones.

King expects the superintendents of public schools to be present at the meeting. The Lions Club and the Chamber of Commerce will also be on hand to help the patrol get organized.

Out of town people will consist of two men from Captain Anderson's Traffic Division in Amarillo. Potter County's Sheriff, Paul Gaither, will be there and also Sergeant Wells and two state patrolmen. John King has done this type work before and plans to help Amarillo get a youth patrol organized in the near future. None of the youngsters to work with the patrol later will be present at this meeting.

Williams Wins WT Scholarship

PEGGY WILLIAMS

Peggy Williams, 18, of Plainview is Tau Beta Sigma's scholarship student for this year.

Peggy has done band work in Plainview schools for nine years. At WT she plays the clarinet in the Buffalo Band and is also a soprano in the A Cappella Choir.

Each year, in collaboration with the music department, Tau Beta Sigma awards a scholarship to a girl from somewhere in the Panhandle that can best meet the standards set up by the national club.

To qualify, the girl must be outstanding in music, have talent that will better the band, and also possess a bright personality and high character.

Besides her work in the band Peggy also plays the saxaphone and sings in her church choir.

LAST HOPE OF ANGLO-IRANIAN OIL SETTLEMENT

The oldest newspaper in America today is the Newport, Rhode Island Mercury, which was founded in 1758 by young James Franklin with the aid of his Uncle Benjamin.

The first New England newspaper to be firmly established outside of Boston was the Connecticut Gazette of New Haven, founded in 1755 by James Parker, an associate of Benjamin Franklin.

One of the oldest newspapers currently published in the United States is the Connecticut Courant, founded in Hartford in 1764 by Thomas Green.

The first newspaper in the southern colonies was the Maryland Gazette, founded at Annapolis in 1727.

Benjamin Franklin was the publisher of the Philadelphia Zeitung, which in 1732 was the first foreign-language newspaper in the American colonies.

The first printing press in Philadelphia was set up by William Bradford in 1685 just two years after the town was settled.

New York was the third largest city in the colonies, the third city to have a printing press, and the third to support a newspaper.

The first American newspaper outside Boston was the American Weekly Mercury, founded in Philadelphia December 22, 1719, by Andrew Bradford.

An old English law stated that the truth of a statement made it none the less libelous. In fact, its being true was an "aggravation of the crime."

The pioneer villages of Boston and Philadelphia both had printing presses before they were permitted in such English cities as Liverpool and Birmingham.

Three-fourths of the American towns having newspapers before 1765 were seaports.

The London Gazette founded in 1665 was the first English news publication issued regularly in newspaper format.

By 1735 there were five newspapers in Boston, a town of less than 20,000 population.

In December, 1620, the first known news-sheets in the English language appeared not in England but in Holland.

The first printing press in America was set up in 1638 in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

A printing press was set up in Williamsburg, Virginia, in 1682, but immediately suppressed by the royal governor, Sir William Berkeley.

The first newspaper west of the Allegheníes was the Pittsburgh Gazette, founded by John Acull and Joseph Hall in 1786.

Before 1800 there were 21 newspapers attempted west of the mountains and eight of these were in Kentucky.

President Truman, privately, will be pulling for Attlee over Churchill in the British election. The President doesn't much relish Churchill's idea that Truman and Joseph Stalin and Churchill should sit around a table and try to straighten out the affairs of the world. Truman remembers that he got gypped at Potsdam.

Military staff chiefs of U. S. are pressing for an answer to the question of how long this country must go on holding punches in the Far Eastern war while Communists build strength. If the Communists do not show a real desire to do business, they may get hit hard before winter.

The first American paper mill was erected at Germantown, Penn., in 1690, the same year that the first American newspaper was attempted.

When American printing began, the presses were still much like that used by Gutenburg two and a half centuries before.

TAX EXEMPT EXPENSE ACCOUNTS: The Senate on September 27th, by 77 ayes to 11 nays, adopted an amendment to the Tax Bill repealing tax exemptions for the President, Vice - President, Speaker of the House, and Members of Congress in so far as the tax exempt expense accounts of these officials are concerned; the amendment to be effective as of January 3, 1953. You will remember that I introduced this piece of legislation shortly after I was sworn in. The difference between the Senate amendment and the bill that I introduced is that the effective date of my bill would be much earlier than January 3, 1953. Under the Constitution it would be impossible to make any change in the expense account of the President during the term for which he is elected. It is my opinion that when this matter comes before the House of Representatives, the Senate amendment will be adopted. It has been my contention all along that elected officials are in a no different category than any other individual in any event, and certainly not concerning tax matters. I do not feel that a blanket tax exempt expense account should be available to anyone, regardless of position, as it could very easily lead to a situation where a great number of people both in public and private life could employ that method as a tax loophole, and the result would be abuses that would be unfair and discriminatory. Fairness and equality in the carrying of the tax burden is an absolute must under the Democratic form of government. There are many loopholes that are being employed at the present time but these are being fast discovered and closed. The sooner all of these are closed the sooner we as individual citizens may expect some lightening of the heavy tax burden that we are carrying.

DREW PEARSON VS. SENATOR McCARTHY: The great battle of charges and counter charges continues on the Washington front, and one phase of it has shifted from Capitol Hill to the courthouse, where Drew Pearson is suing Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, the Washington Times-Herald, and nine other defendants. The case grew out of an altercation at the swank Sulgrave Club here in Washington. Whether or not the Sulgrave Club is swank is hearsay with me, as I have never had the occasion to visit it. I have talked to several of those who were present at the dinner the evening of the difficulty between Drew Pearson and Senator McCarthy and I have heard several stories, all just about alike, except a little difference in detail. The case is now in the pre-trial stage, that is, the testimony of the interested parties is being taken. A move was made by the defendants to prevent the proceedings or the testimony so taken to be published. I was rather surprised at this move on the part of Senator McCarthy and the Times-Herald as it certainly would have been at least a limited infringement upon the freedom of the press. The Judge, however, refused to allow the proceedings to be secretive. The testimony growing out of this proceeding is affording the residents of this section of the country some juicy reading material. From the local newspaper accounts it would seem that the entire proceeding is going along on the theory of "everytime you call me a bad name, I'll call you a worse one." It seems that name calling and accusation throwing are becoming fine arts. This would probably develop into a new field for public relations firms. One bit of testimony that caused some furor in the Pearson vs. McCarthy case was that brought out by Pearson's attorney Roberts to the effect that Senator McCarthy's income tax returns over a period of several years prior to his appointment to the circuit court bench showed annual losses in stock market operations that exceeded the Senator's income. However, the attorney for Pearson indicated by his questioning—and referred to an income tax return—that there was an increase in the income of the Senator to $36,000. According to the local papers, Senator McCarthy refused to divulge where the $36,000 came from. This type of testimony is merely a forerunner of what can be expected during the actual trial of the case.

PUBLICATION OF INCOMES OF OFFICIALS: Talking about incomes, the President's message to the Senate and House of Representatives advocating an annual publication of the incomes of elected and appointed public officials certainly caused some repercussions on the Hill. It was interesting to note that some of the Senators who have been crusading for every type of investigation apparently do not want to make known their own personal business. Frankly, I can think of no honest reason why any public official would want to hide his income or the source of his income. Certainly senators and congressmen should not be exempt from the searching light of truth any more than they should have tax exemptions. It is a well known fact that some of the elected public officials in the Congress have a pretty sizable income from lectures, speeches, and appearances, and of course there has always been a great deal of rumor about the income of elected officials from outside sources. If the elected officers are required to publish an annual statement as to their incomes, there would need to be no further guess work or rumors about the matter, and the people could have the exact truth, unvarnished, to which they are entitled.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN HOLD MEETING SEPTEMBER 25

An article on our Leper word was read and a free will offering taken for it. Mrs. Clark gave the devotional on "faith." Mrs. Cash gave the lesson on the "Faith of Devoted Christian Mothers." A free will offering was taken and the hostess served lovely refreshments.

A pink and blue shower for Mrs. Travis White was given Wednesday, September 26, in the home of Mrs. W. M. Dickerson. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Max Bosley, Jr., and Mrs. Clinton Miller. Refreshments of do-nuts, hot spiced tea, nuts, and mints were served. Favors were toy rubber animals.

EDNA SUE HOOD HONORED WITH PERSONAL SHOWER

On September 27, the home of Mrs. E. A. Brown was the scene for the personal shower honoring Miss Edna Sue Hood, bride-elect of Cpl. George C. Snyder.

The serving table was centered with a cake surrounded by blue asters, spiced punch, nuts, and mints. Margie Mullican and Irma Satterwhite served.

Snapdragons and dahlias were used for decorations throughout the rooms.

Twenty-four guests were present for the occasion.

Clement Attlee, Britain's Prime Minister and Labor Party head, is so concerned about the prospect that Tories may pile up a big lead that he is concentrating the campaign in marginal areas rather than in working-class districts. Conservatives, like Republicans of U. S. in 1948, are highly confident of victory October 25.

Color television, in the active experimental stage, is going to draw away large numbers of vital engineers from the military side of the electronics industry. High officials are concerned.

General Dwight Eisenhower, after the war, was one of the Army and Air Force generals who signed a document favoring an end to the Marine Corps as a combat organization.

Gen. Omar Bradley, Chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, was sent on his latest mission to Tokyo with instructions on how to try a new line in seeking to make a deal with the Communists. The word "appeasement" is being dusted off once more.

Pressure is beginning to grow for use by the Air Force in Korea of some of the big stockpile of atomic bombs about which officials are bragging. An idea is getting around that the U. S. either lacks this stockpile or prefers to let war drag on, with mounting casualties, rather than to use it.

Career officials in the Government's tax-collection machinery, without political connections, eye with suspicion a policy of decentralizing the decisions on whose tax returns are audited and whose are not audited. Determinations once made in a central office now are made in local offices, often headed by political appointees. A simple twist of the wrist is all that is needed to let a tax return go through without official check.

William Boyle, Jr., Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is devoting a good deal of thought to problems of big-city political machines that are in trouble in several parts of the country. City machines have played a key part in Democratic victories of the past but are not now in good working order.

The White House group is more worried by growing evidence of sale of tax favors by officials within the Bureau of Internal Revenue than by any other of the developing list of scandals in Government. The fear is that voters, who are paying higher and higher taxes, will not be happy to discover that political appointees may be making the taxes of their friends easier to bear.

Eagles Lose 12 to 13 in Friday's Gridiron Battle

Professional calibre football was played by the Dalhart and Canyon high school teams Friday night. In the spirited game which saw two well trained teams battling toe-to-toe, Canyon tasted defeat by the heartbreaking margin of 1 point. The final 12 to 13 score was made even harder for Canyon fans because the Eagles were in a power drive that was certainly headed for another touchdown as the game ended.

Red Ratliff turned on full steam for the Eagles and made-like the fast express to buck the Dalhart line, dart around the end or use expert broken field running to roll up huge yardage figures for the Eagles. Canyon picked up 13 first downs to Dalhart's 8. Canyon completed 5 passes out of 9 and Dalhart completed 2 out of 10.

The Dalhart Wolves rallied behind Billy Cessnun as their bulwark of strength. It was Cessnun who dashed over for the first touchdown of the game. The conversion was blocked and the score was 6 for the Wolves and 0 for the Eagles. The fast paced action continued to hug the Dalhart side of the field as Dennis Bohrer hustled over for the second Wolf touchdown. This time they converted for a score of 13 to 0.

As new determination swept the ranks of the Eagle line, plays tightened up. After the kick Harrell Slack did a nimble spinning job through the line for a gain of 10 yards. Don McDonald took the ball around the right end for a gain of 6 yards. Larry Stroupe threw a long pass to Red Ratliff, but the ball fell shy of its mark. Harrell Slack tried to run the ball but was brought down by Marvin Willis. As the game tightened on both sides, Don McDonald passed to Ray Burrus and Canyon picked up a touchdown to make the score 13 to 6 after the Eagles failed to convert.

Before the whistle blew to end the first half of the game the Eagles were once more in possession of the old nest egg. They had a power drive in operation that had all the appearances of being the reserve power to carry them to pay dirt. This surging power was halted by half-time whistle.

After the half-time break, the action intensified. Both teams were playing carefully, skillfully to give the fans their full money's worth. Dalhart's Billy Ritter, Bobby Martin, Chester Dye and Billy Cessnun were battling gridiron experts such as Red Ratliff, Ray Burrus, Don McDonald, Harrell Slack, Stirling Cummings, Pete Donnel, Tommy Middleton and Jimmy Cornette. Every now and then the game got rough and a few penalties were given first one side then the other.

Lynn Williams ran the ball 34 yards for the Eagles, only to have it called back. A pass from Ratliff to Slack was good for an Eagle 25 yard gain. As the twilight of the fourth quarter started appearing, the Eagles showed an additional reserve strength. Ratliff took the ball under his wing and in 5 plays pushed it over for the second Eagle touchdown. The conversion kick was wide to the left and the score was 12 to 13.

Even though time was running out, the strength of the Eagles was rising like a thermometer thrown in a hot oven. They took the kick that went out of bounds in the end zone and started hustling. It started at the Eagle 3 yard stripe and was marked by fast paced action and lots of yardage gained for the Eagles. The Wolves got the ball once more on downs, but they fumbled and the Eagles took possession again. As the Eagle power drive started for the goal line, time raced ahead and ere that ellusive line could be crossed the final whistle blew.

Some of the area's sports writers had made Canyon the underdog by 2 touchdowns. With a little luck, Canyon would have won by 2 touchdowns. Coach Floyd Murry and assistant coach Lloyd Johnson had put a team of experts on the field and if there had been one more minute in the game the final score would probably have been 18 or 19 to 13, Canyon, instead of 12 to 13, Dalhart.

This Friday the Eagles get a well deserved rest and then Friday, October 12, they meet Olton at 8:00 p. m. in Buffalo Stadium.

DRAFT CALL

The Defense Department has called for the drafting of 41,000 men in October—5,000 for the Marine Corps and 36,000 for the Army. The total is an increase of 6,820 over that for September, when the Army is to get 28,000 and the Marines 6,180, and is the highest draft call since March, when 80,000 men were requested.

CARGO SHIPS

For the first time since the end of World War II, the Navy plans to start arming its own cargo ships now operated by the Coast Guard. Some 25 cargo ships and tankers of the Navy Military Sea Transportation Service and an undisclosed number of Coast Guard vessels are to get guns and radar equipment.

Statehouse

by HUGH WILLIAMSON

Next month the voters of Texas will accept or reject four important changes to their State Constitution.

The proposed amendment most discussed is that affecting public welfare. Here is what will happen if House Joint Resolution No. 6, that relating to aid for the needy, is approved by the people:

Applicants for state assistance can be put on the rolls whether or not they are citizens of Texas and whether or not they live in Texas.

The Constitution now provides that only citizens are eligible, and they must have lived in the state five of the last nine years including the year immediately preceding application.

That applies to the aged and blind; needy children must have lived in the state one year immediately preceding the application; or, if the child is less than one year old, his mother must have lived in Texas for one year preceding his birth.

In addition to changing the eligibility rules, H. J. R. No. 6 raises the limit on state expenditures for public welfare from $35 million to $42 million.

If the amendment is approved, the Legislature will have to meet in special session if funds are provided to pay the increased costs of public welfare.

H. J. R. No. 2 is a proposition to increase from $25 million to $100 million the amount of bonds that may be issued by the Veterans Land Board.

The original program was expected to be self-sustaining; that is, the bonds would be retired as the veterans who bought land under the program paid their debt. 6 The proposed amendment, however, with accompanying legislation, makes the State responsible for paying principle and interest if there is not enough money in the Veterans Land Fund for that purpose.

Only veterans of World War II are now eligible to participate in the Veterans Land Program. The amendment would extend the privilege to Texas veterans who have served in the armed services after 1945.

H. J. R. No. 77 would give the University of Texas authority to invest its permanent fund in securities other than bonds issued or guaranteed by governmental units or agencies.

The change might bring greater earnings to the University. The permanent fund now amounts to $104 million. In the fiscal year 1950 it earned $2,575,000 in interest.

H. J. R. No. 22 would give Legislature the power to authorize a statewide system of county retirement programs for appointive officers and employees.

The Legislature would establish the nature of the system. The counties would individually decide whether they wished to enter into the program.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 8 would give rural fire districts the authority to increase their tax rate to a maximum of 50 cents per $100 valuation.

The present limit is three cents. The method of administering the districts is in the hands of the Legislature.

Charles Wilson, Defense Mobilizer, still hasn't seen the labor adviser appointed months ago to take a place in Mr. Wilson's office. Labor leaders created a furor, threatening to walk out on the mobilization plan on the ground of lack of representation. George Harrison, Railway Brotherhood president, who got the job of representing labor, hasn't found time to take his office.

Electric Cooking Is

ACCURATE

...as MODERN women KNOW!

Wherever accuracy is required in business, industry, the home, electricity is used. Yes, whether it is synchronizing a nationwide radio hookup, dispatching trains or baking a cake, when you want accuracy and precision, you call on electricity.

When you push the buttons or turn the switches on your electric range, you know that exactly the amount of heat you desire will be on the setting used. You know the heat will be accurate because you know the heat has been measured — measured in the correct amount.

You know, too, that your electric range oven control holds the temperature at the cookbook figure in your recipe, assuring you of cookbook results every time.

Yes, electric cooking is accurate — as modern women know.

READ THE SIGNS SAVE YOUR FINES

While thumbing through the Student Handbook, I saw something about a nickel, but when the right place was found, it was about fines on library books. The rules are to keep the books in good condition and to maintain the library. Principal rules are:

1. All books must be signed before being taken from library.
2. Pupils are not to check out books under assumed names or under the name of another pupil.
3. Books must be catalogued and numbered before being issued.
4. A fine of 5 cents for the first day, and 2 cents for each additional day, for books kept overtime.
5. If a book is lost the pupil must replace the book with one of equal quality or pay for the book.
6. Pupils disobeying library rules will be denied the use of the library.

To find out more about the library rules read pages 16 and 17 in your Student Handbook.

Learning Signals May Save Your Life

Do you know your bells?

3 bells - Fire - March out in in orderly manner.
2 bells - Return - March back to room.
1 bell - Halt - Stand at attention.
3 bells - After Halting - March out of building.
2 bells - Return - March back to your room.

Three bells ringing in the middle of class period, September 24, in Canyon High caught some of the students by surprise. The occasion was the first fire drill of the year. The complete high school was empty in 2 minutes.

This was an obstructive fire drill; the front door was the only one open. The purpose of this fire drill was to teach the students of Canyon High how to leave the building quickly and safely.

There will be two fire drills every month during the school term.

A fire chief and four assistants will be selected by the Student Faculty Congress. There will be an assistant fire chief on each floor of the building and one in the annex.

Jennings Cops Kick Off Award

Janie Jennings, junior, won the first prize, a pen and pencil set, to be presented for the highest amount of sales, $113.50, sold for the first day in the annual Junior Curtis Magazine Sales, September 25.

Four group captains, Dorothy Cleavinger, Barbara Glanton, Donald McDonald, and Tommy Myers, were appointed by the junior class sponsor, Mr. T. L. Devin, to divide the class into groups for selling. The sales will last for ten days with a definite percent of the sales going to the junior class treasury. Several prizes will be given at different times during the selling of the magazines.

Frosh Initiated

"You look horrible!" "What do you have on your face?" "If I hear 'Filibuster' one more time I'll die!"

These were just a few of the expressions sounding in the halls of Canyon High School during freshman initiation. Ninety- five complaining freshmen obeyed the orders of their Senior "sisters" and "brothers" Thursday and Friday.

The freshman girls wore pajamas with a wide variety of artificial flowers, belts, jewelry, and hats. At noon the freshman girls led yells, danced, sang, and made speeches. Between classes, the girls carried books and supplied candy and gum for their "sisters."

The "fish" boys wore pajamas, makeup, and jewelry. The "fish" carried their Senior "brother's" books in suitcases or boxes and kept all Senior boys well supplied with candy and gum.

Much new equipment has been purchased by Canyon Independent Public Schools which will be used during the current school year.

All rooms of the grade school have been repainted. A light green focal wall, which is the wall that the students face, is featured in all the rooms. New moveable chairs and reading tables were purchased for the first and second grades. All of the old type furniture has been renovated and the halls and floors of the building have been refinished. In the office of the principal, two steel filing cabinets have been added.

For the high school, a Sound Mirror taperecorder and new musical instruments were purchased. The instruments, two bass clarinets and a bass horn, will be used by band students.

Band Presents Comical Show

Featuring Ralph Green, posing as a professional drum major, the Canyon High School Band presented comical stunts Friday night at the ballgame in Canyon.

Ralph, decked in collaborated paraphernalia pranced his way around as he tried to stay in front of the band.

A fanfare, followed by "The Booster" started the program. The group played "Pop Goes the Weasel," turning at every "pop" with Ralph still trying to stay in front.

He finally gave up. He motioned to the sideline for his gun, and shot himself.

Jim Reynolds, regular drum major, took over as the band formed S. O. S. He gave several signals and the band followed every signal.

The band has 68 members this year and hope to give many more performances.

Homemaking Girls Study Child Care

Forty-two Homemaking I girls are now studying child care and training. This four week unit is to help the girls to better understand children and to learn the child's viewpoint and better understand his problems.

The topics being studied are:

1. Responsibilities of a baby sitter: The class has decided that the most important point to remember is to keep the child from any danger by constantly watching the child.
2. Teaching the child to develop good character traits: Honesty ,self-control, and kindness were the more important traits to teach the child. Groups of girls planned socio-dramas showing the right and the wrong way to help children develop these traits.
3. Routine habits of children: The main habits being studied are the proper foods and eating habits of children.
4. Play equipment and play for children: The classes saw a film taken at the College nursery school by Mrs. Estelle Caffey, student teacher, showing play equipment used by the nursery school student. Each student then made a toy to be used in the play school.
5. Stories suitable for different age-levels of children: Each girl wrote and illustrated an original story including the characteristics of a good story for children. These stories were then judged and the best one was written by Rita Jo Crow. Others writing stories judged best were Lucy Hollabaugh, Ann Moore, and Rhea June Ford.
6. Play School: The unit will be concluded with a play school. Each girl in class may invite a child. A meal will be prepared and served to the children, and stories, music, art, and play equipment is being planned.

Canyon's Eagles went down to a 13-12 defeat at the hands of the Dalhart Wolves from District 1-AA here Friday night, with the Wolves forced to stave off a desperate last period attack by the losers.

"Red" Ratliff led the Eagles in their last minute drive, the losers punching 42 yards in 11 plays for a final touchdown. The score left the Eagles a point short of a tie.

As the final gun sounded Canyon was 17 yards from paydirt.

Dalhart struck early in the second period with Billy Cessnun scoring from the six. The attempt for the extra point was blocked. Late in the same period the Wolves scored on a 40 yard pass play from Billy Ritter to Dennis Bohrer. Cessnun converted to make 13-0.

Canyon made the halftime score 13-6 with Don McDonald passing to Ray Burrus for the TD. A 12 yard pass to Harrell Slack and a 10 yard run by Slack set up the counter.

In the battle of first downs, Canyon led, 13 to 8.

Canyon High B team played Sam Houston of Amarillo, September 27, at Sam Houston Field. The score see-sawed back and forth, but the final score was 19-13 in Sam Houston's favor.

Crump of Sam Houston scored in the first quarter. But in the second, Don Beck tallied to tie the score. Before the half, Crump scored to put Sam Houston ahead. In the third quarter, R. A. Burgess tallied; Don Beck made the extra point to put Canyon ahead. Later in the same quarter Crump scored, the extra point was made.

In the last quarter neither team scored.
